VOLUME 14. NUMBER 25.

Superintendent For New Mine

Mr. S. C. Chezum, mine superintendent for the properties being opened up by Mr. Silverman & Mr. Galvin, up the river, has been in town a few days awaiting transportation to the scene of operation. Mr. Chezum is a veteran miner, of late years spending his energies and large sums of money in prospecting and locating claims in the coal fields near Katalla, to be by the recent decision of the Secretary of Interior, backed off the map, being denied the right of patent to the claims, the decision no doubt being largely influenced by the maudlin arguments of the conservation-crazed theorists of the Pinchot stripe in the east.

"Live Wire" Bartlett Leaving Revilla

Glen Bartlett, the popular hotel manager, for the past few years in charge of the Revilla Hotel in Ketchikan, has resigned his position with that popular hostelry to take effect the 1st of July. Glen's plans for the future is not yet known but it is to be hoped that he will not leave Alaska, for he is a "live wire" and the kind of a young man that we need.

"The Adventures of Kathleen" Coming the Rink.

Big Band Here For Celebration

The Fourth of July committee has secured the services of the famous Metlakahtla cornet band for the two days celebration. The boys wired the committee that they would bring their base ball team with them. So it is up to the base ball fans to get ready for two events that will give them an entertainment seldom witnessed in this part of Alaska. (Don't forget to give a hand in preparing the grounds.)

Game Warden After Violators

Julius Sternburg, Game Warden for this part of Alaska, with headquarters at Ketchikan, was in town during the week on his return voyage from Sitka, Warm Spring Bay and the islands to the Westward. Julius is certainly taking in the territory assigned to him, which is certainly too large for one to handle, and violators of the game laws had best keep their eyes open for he is liable to pop up at any time and in any old place.

A new cannery is being installed at Scow Bay, near Petersburg. It is expected to be in commission in time to pack 10,000 cases this season.

New Contract Means Much To Fishermen

Frank M. Woodward, of the firm of Thos. Woodward & Son of New York City, one of the oldest houses for the handling of salt fish in the country having been established in 1822, was in the city last week and closed a contract with the Co-operative Fish Co. of this place whereby he agrees to take all the mild cured salmon that the Co-operatives can produce during the season at prices that is far more favorable to the fishermen than any yet given in this part of Alaska besides under the contract all fish accepted are paid for upon delivery at the Co-operative Co.'s, here, thus giving the fishermen quick results for their labor.

Bronson Has A Record Garden

Custom Officer Bronson is gathering as fine luscious strawberries from his vines, beginning on the 19th, as can be produced in any country. The earliness and character of the crop certainly speak well for the soil and climatic conditions of this part of Alaska.

Mr. Thos. F. Eggers, of Tacoma, will superintend the examination and purchase of the first shipment after which Mr. McGehan will have full charge of affairs.

That this arrangement means much to the fishermen, as well as to the town in general, is evidenced by the departure of all the Co-operative boats laden with traps and salt for the fishing grounds, and with the present large run of King salmon there can be no doubt but that the fishermen will be able to make a clean up exceeding anything in the past.

Will Take Gold From River Bottom

Having bought copper deposits, free gold veins, silver ledges and coal measures, the Guggenheims varied their usual mining procedure by closing a deal for the purchase of a river, from the bottom of which it is expected they will garner several million dollars in gold dust and nuggets, says the Cordova Times. The Yukon Gold Exploration Company, a Guggenheim corporation with a capital of about $20,000,000, has bonded 11 miles of Kenai river, near Seward. The amount involved in the deal is close to $2,000,000, divided among a number of different claim owners bonded for purchase outright and the others will be operated under a lease on a royalty basis. The tract is regarded as one of the biggest dredging propositions in the Northern country.

Work Starting On Big Wireless

The S. S. Prometheus, which is a collier and machine shop combined, is now enroute to Unalaska, after making necessary repaires to the westward radio plants, will come to Cordova for a two month's stay. She is due here on September 27 and will this fall begin the erection of one of the six largest naval wireless stations in the United States. The Prometheus carries a crew of 400 men and a mechanical force of 60. The new station is to be constructed at Mile 13, along the Copper River & Northwestern Railroad. Two 300-foot towers, 700 feet apart, will be built of steel this fall with a view of erecting another tower later. The equipment and machinery for the plant will not be installed until next year, although considerable of it will be received here this summer and placed in the Whiteside station.—Cordova Times.

Local Couple Are Married

Mr. Edwin P. Clark and Miss Lilly Fletcher were united in marriage last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewis, with whom the bride has made her home for several years. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clark.

Both contracting parties are well known here, Mr. Clark being the engineer on the river boat Winifred, and the bride is a sister of Mrs. Lewis. They will leave the Winifred to night on their honeymoon trip. The Sentinel joins with their many friends in wishing them a happy journey through life.

Fremont King Has A Narrow Escape

Fremont King manager of the Tongass Trading Co. at Ketchikan came near losing his life last Monday. It is known that Mr. King was lying on the floor of the elevator endeavoring to reach some piping in the basement with one hand and working the lever that controlled the elevator with the other, when his hands and shoulders were caught between the elevator and the first floor, but by marvelous quick action and rare presence of mind on his part he was left to tell the story.

Work On New Dam Progressing

The work on the city's new reservoir is progressing fine, the weather for the past few weeks being exceptionally auspicious for that kind of work. When the work is completed Wrangell will have a water supply that will be adequate for a city of ten thousand inhabitants with a pressure sufficient to cope with any ordinary conflagration at least until we get a few sky scrapers.

Wireless Man Is Nearly Electrocuted

Mr. Arthur A. Isbell, superintendent of construction of the Marconi Radio company, at Ketchikan came near being electrocuted a few days ago by accidentally receiving a shock from a 25,000 volt circuit which rendered him unconscious for over an hour, burning the flesh from the bone of both elbows. The physicians aver however that he will soon recover baring new complications.

On her second trip southward from Nome the Alaska Steamship company's liner, Victoria will come along the coast and call at all towns to give tourists an opportunity of seeing the country. The trip will be made in July.

"WE SHOULD WORRY" "?"

With the present bright prospects for a big catch of fish in this immediate vicinity during the present season,--The saw mill running at full capacity with outstanding contracts sufficient to keep them going for some time to come,--with the upriver prospects of an increased activity in the mining of precious metals,--with the new marble quarries being opened up at Red Bay, Calder and other places near the Tokeen works, the present high prices of all metals will doubtless cause many of the prospects in this vicinity to be developed,--certainly makes the future of this town look pretty good to your "Uncle Willie."

When a Soft Drink Is Hard.

"You are arrested on a very serious charge, my good man," began the court, looking at the man severely. "You are accused of getting into a fight and hitting the complainant over the head with a bottle. What have you to say for yourself?"

"Your honor, I didn't mean to hurt him. I never thought that it would hurt him very much, 'cause the bottle contained nothing but a soft drink," returned the prisoner. — Milwaukee Free Press.

M. McKinney left for the south on the Northwestern. He is expected back about the 4th.

The Sanitary Packing Co., made their initial run on Tuesday, and are now ready for all comers in the fish line.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Northrup on Sunday evening and left in their care a bouncing baby girl.

Mrs. F. L. Clarke arrived on an early boat this week and will spend the summer visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. Case.

Two excursion and picnic parties went out yesterday, one on the Standard for the glacier, the other on the Karen for Petersburg. Each party numbered about twenty.

An addition of about ten feet is being built on to the Red Mens hall building. The addition is full two stories and will be divided into closets and antie rooms.

The visitors yesterday to the glacier report very little ice afloat as compared with former years and it is the opinion of Mr. Gray and others that the glacier is almost dead.

Dr. C. A. Emery is off on a short trip to the West Coast administering pain and relief to the people of that section that may be troubled with refractory bicuspids or molars.

Capt. Roy Cole, of Klawock, was in on the J. H. Sisson Monday. Mr. Cole reports the prospect for a good catch of fish on the west coast as being very favorable.

Mr. J. W. Stedman, after having one of the McCormack cottages handsomely decorated, has temporarily established himself therein awaiting the arrival of his wife, who is expected on an early boat, when he will be ready at home.

The A. P. A. Cannery begun tanning the first of the week. Superintendent Shott reports the early run of fish as satisfactory and the traps doing well the fish all being in close to shore.

The Ida May left Monday for Cape Omney, Noyse Island, Foster Island and other points on the west coast, ostensibly to look into the extent of the King salmon run, but will doubtless pick up a load of fish on the trip.

Boys don't stand on the street corners and sigh "Gee what a lonesome town, with nothing to do but hang around", but go up to the Athletic Park and lend a hand in preparing the grounds for clean health-giving fun-provoking sport.

The spirit of cleaning up, cutting weeds and trimming the lawns that has been exhibited in the last few days by some of our citizens is certainly commendable and should be imitated by all, for the beauty of the town is certainly greatly enhanced without the outlay of a great deal of energy.

J. T. Barrens, the veteran cannery man from the north, was an up passenger on the Spokane yesterday, and took occasion during the stay of the boat in port, to renew acquaintance with his many old time friends here.

The Alaska Packer's Launch brought in, this morning, one of their employees suffering from an injured ankle and foot. It cannot be determined at this time, the part being so swollen, whether there is any broken bones or simply a severe wrenching of the tendons. He was placed in the care of Dr. Shurick.

The King and Wing, of the U.S. Coast Survey, came in port Saturday afternoon, thus giving the boys an opportunity to attend the dance at the hotel in the evening which, from all appearances they enjoyed to the full.

The dance given at the Hotel Wrangell Saturday evening was a great success and a real social event. The proceeds resulting from collection taken up among the dancers and onlookers was very satisfactory and will be used by the committee having in charge the work of clearing and grading the new base ball and athletic park.

Get the habit, the Rink.

Auburn, N. Y.—Mabel Page James is seeking sufficient evidence to obtain a new trial. The former Fairbankian was convicted two years ago of murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment. She has been a model prisoner, and Mrs. Maude Billington-Booth, of the volunteers of America, has interested herself in the case. Mrs. James says there are two women in Alaska who might be able to render her considerable assistance in her fight for liberty. These two women are Mabel Moore and Mrs. Y. Myers, known as "Texas Rose." Neither of the two women are now in Fairbanks, but both are in Alaska.

Notice

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned, M. H. Inman, that any and all persons who are indebted to the late M. F. Inman, of Wrangell, Alaska, who formerly conducted a boat shop in said town, must pay their bills at once or legal steps will be taken to collect same.

The Shipwreck

(By "BOBBY BURNS")

From her anchorage slowly creeping
Clucking like a setting hen
She had cleared for Pat's and Konk creek

Chartered from her owner, "Ben."

Pat, the mate had stored the cargo
So she rode on even keel

Mac, the captain with stern visage
Stood on duty at the wheel.

Out of Wrangell's placid harbor

As the clock was striking eight

Rode these daring sea dog sailors

Reputations were at stake.

They had learned that one named

"Gartley."

Boasted of the trout he'd caught

And they swore they'd "beat him to it"

And would prove his fish were bought.

All day long the reels went humming

How the fish and gnats did bite

Seven p. m. they reached the salt chuck

Weary from so long a hike.

Steering out and heading homeward

Mac once more assumed command

Saying we will show those "lubbers

What this little craft will stand.

She has weathered many a storm sin-

She will ride out any gale

When we hit the sea off Chicago:

I will show you how she'll sail.

As the waves came rolling onward

Breaking with a deadly roar

Capt. Mac held wheel to starboard

Landing on the rugged shore.

Oh, that wet and lonely landing

Oh, that bleak unhallowed land

Oh, that cursing and the raving

In this land that God forgot.

How the startled owls stopped

hooting

How the gray wolf slunk from sight

No one dare repeat the language

Waited on the breeze that night.

Not a match to light the fire

Not a torch to light the way

Can you blame those shipwrecked sailors

If they both forgot to pray?

Can you wonder at the visions

That a raving captain saw?

Boats adrift and sweeping seaward

Phantoms in that land of "Awe"

Censure not this gas boat captain

Praise should ring on every lip

Mate deserted; what a coward

Mac stood nobly by his ship.

What of "Gartley" the defamer

He who swipes his largest trou-

Mac and Pat caught just one hundred

But they ate them camping out.

A GREAT INVENTION.

How the Bessemer Process Revolutionized the Steel industry.

The pessimistic inventor who holds that the hand of all the world is against him and that his ideas are so ahead of the times that they may not be appreciated until he is dead and gone, is still broad in the land, writes W. A. Du Puy in Scientific American. He believes that he has the facts from which to draw a conclusion that he who makes an invention that is revolutionary is to suffer many reverses and to wait long for his reward. There are many cases of record to substantiate this belief. There is, however, a question of their application to the inventor of today.

There is the case of Sir Henry Bessemer, for instance, and his difficulty in inducing the world to use his obvious and revolutionary methods of producing steel. So great was the effect of the Bessemer process upon the steel business that the production in England jumped from 50,000 tons a year to 4,000,000 tons immediately after its introduction and so great was the effect of the cheaper methods of refinement upon price that steel declined from $300 a ton to $40 a ton. Yet the only way Bessemer could get his process used was to put up a factory, manufacture steel and undersell his competitors.

Bessemer went at the problem of improving the manner of making steel deliberately. He wanted a stronger metal for the barrels of big guns. He knew nothing of the business. He began at the bottom and learned the science of it. In the end he made a retort with provision for forcing air in from below. He melted his iron and turned on the air. The whole immediately became a sparkling furnace that burned so hot and so rapidly that it was impossible to reach the valve which would turn off the air. So hot was the fire that the very fastenings of the retort were nearly melted. The transforming process was, however, completed before the heat had demolished the plant. So was the discovery made.

Yet those people with whom Bessemer contracted for the use of his process failed utterly in getting results and abandoned it. He formed a company of his own, built a plant and began the production of steel. This he sold at a price that the producers under the old process could not meet and still made a fabulous profit. Thus, he proved the value of his patents and, after many years, brought them into general use and from the royalties he received he waxed fabulously rich.

In some parts of Italy the peasants pull the New Year by beating wildly on frying pans and shovels.

Scottish people look upon the taking of money on New Year's day as a very easy proceeding, even though it is money which is owing to them.

In Greece the first day of the year is a great tipping festival. A Greek gentleman is expected to visit all his friends, to all the servants of whom a piece of money must be given.

The Frenchman New Year's day is the day of all the year, the visits and the relatives, from his son-in-law to his maiden great-niece, card or a present.

It is a day more or less of fun, but not so gay as any other time of the year.
